

The Great Pie Debate

Print these cards and pass them around the table. Instruct everyone to pick their favorite pie and write their name and choice on a post-it. Go around and have everyone reveal their favorite. Take turns reading everyone's profile to the table!

apple pie

pumpkin pie

lemon meringue

cherry pie

key lime pie

sweet potato

pecan pie

chocolate silk

mince pie

mixed berry pie

X

no pie

Key: The Great Pie Debate

Pumpkin Pie - The Classic Soul

You're a sentimentalist at heart. You like things to feel right, not flashy or fussy. You're the glue that holds family traditions together. Your greatest strength: Groundedness

Pecan Pie - The Quiet Revel

On the surface, you look traditional. Underneath? You've got spark. You're drawn to intensity, depth of flavor rich conversation and a touch of indulgence. Your secret: You love family gatherings but sneak away to read or stargaze when it gets too loud

Apple Pie - The Optimist

You're the golden retrievers of the dessert table, warm, friendly and endlessly dependable. You love gatherings that mix old friends and new faces. If you're an apple pie person, your secret superpower is hope.

Cherry Pie - The Bold Romantic

You are not afraid of drama. You're tangy, sweet, and just unpredictable enough to keep things interesting. You might be artistic or impulsive. You thrive on connection and chemistry. If a song moves you, you crank it up.

Sweet Potato Pie - The Old Soul

Sweet potato lovers have depth. You lean toward soulful things - jazz, slow mornings. You have a gentle strength, a quiet humor, and a calm presence. You don't chase trends, but you do appreciate beauty in all its forms, even a slightly uneven pie crust.

Chocolate Silk Pie - The Sophisticated Dreamer

You appreciate indulgence done well. You like smooth textures, quiet elegance, and the finer things. You don't crave attention, but people notice you anyway because you exist in your own beautiful rhythm.

Key: The Great Pie Debate - con't.

Lemon Meringue - The Light-Bringer

Lemon lovers are the fresh air of every room they enter. You bring brightness to heavy days and find humor even in chaos. You're spontaneous and fun. You're practical beneath the cheer. You understand the way to keep life from getting too heavy is a little zest.

Key Lime - The Cool Minimalist

Key lime lovers have taste - crisp, clean, and a little bit daring. You may be a minimalist, but you're rarely dull. You'd rather have one exquisite things than ten average ones.

Mixed Berry - The Free Spirit

If you love mixed berry pie, you probably resist being labeled. You like variety: in food, in life, in friendships. You love color, texture, and freedom. You're drawn to creative projects, and you probably have a knack for turning chaos into beauty. Your challenge: Too many interests; not enough hours.

Mince Pie - The Wild Card

If this is your favorite, you're delightfully unique. You value tradition but love to reinterpret it. You've probably reinvented yourself a few times, and each version is getting closer to who you really are. You know the recipe for life changes with time.

No Pie At All - The Independent Thinker

You'd rather have a cheese plate or a cocktail. You're the unapologetic non-pie person. You march to your own beat, choose experiences over expectations, and don't feel pressured to conform. You're not cynical, you're discerning. You're likely to host people with great playlists and impeccable charcuterie.